PREFACE

We, the Imperial Estates General, do hereby adopt this Writ as Law in the Adrian Empire. This Writ lists those items which rise to the level of Law in the areas of Armigerous Rights, Regalia and Modes of Address, Orders and Awards, and Ministry Badges. All of these items have been approved and registered by the Imperial College of Arms.

I. ARMIGEROUS RIGHTS

- A. The right to display arms is reserved to armigers.
- B. Armigers are those who have either been granted the right to bear arms by the Crown or the Estates, such as by being granted the titles of Lord/Lady, Baron/Baroness, Viscount/Viscountess, Count/Countess, and Prince/Princess, or those who have earned the right to bear arms by virtue of being Knighted.
- C. Non-Knightly armigers may display their arms on their person in any shape so long as it is no more than six inches on its longest edge.
- D. Knightly Peers have the further right to display their arms on a heraldic tabard.
- E. Landed Knights, and Royal and Imperial Peers have the further right of livery.
- F. Any member may register arms against the day they shall be permitted to display them.
- G. Any armiger may display armory on period implements as approved by the Imperial College of Arms.

II. REGALIA AND MODES OF ADDRESS

A. THEORY

1. Chains of State

Chains of state are not regulated by law.

2. Coronets and Crowns

- a. All non-Chivalric nobility are entitled to regalia headgear;
 - i. Ranks of Baron and above are permitted a coronet or crown,
 - ii. Noble non-Chivalric ranks below Baron are permitted a circlet.
- b. The difference between a coronet and a crown is the rank of the person wearing it: Emperors, Empresses, Kings, Queens, Archdukes, Archduchesses, Dukes, and Duchesses all are entitled to a crown; all others so entitled wear a coronet. There is no stylistic difference; it is merely a matter of terminology.
- c. The difference between a coronet/crown and a circlet is that the former may have points, while the latter never does.
- d. There is no minimum or maximum size restriction on crowns and coronets.

3. Restrictions

- a. None of the regalia or styles listed below is mandatory, for example, no one is required to wear that to which one is entitled; however, others who are not so entitled may be restricted from using such regalia or styles.
- b. Addressing someone with a form different from that listed for that member's station is neither prohibited nor discouraged, since forms of address are merely a way of showing respect.
- c. The Estates of a Kingdom may choose to further restrict or augment the regalia listed below, so long as such restriction or augmentation does not conflict with this list.
